Local Happenings About Amador's County Seat

A. J. Hampton, who has been visiting with his uncle, Dr. A. M. Gall for a few days last week, returned to his home in Stockton on Monday.

Allan Peek Peek returned to his home in Oakland last Saturday, after a pleasant visit with relatives in this city.

W. Doyle went over to Plymouth last Sunday to consult Dr. Boyson, a specialist, in regard to his sight. Ever since he was struck in the face from debris from a blast in a mine in Murphy's gulch some months ago, his sight has been impaired. He consulted the expert, to see if something could not be done for his relief.

Mrs Fisher, nee Miss Darling, of San Francisco is visiting Miss Ella Murphy near Butte mountain.

Eva Deletis, who has been attending schoool in Sacramento, is home for a short vacation.

Charley Corin, formerly of this place, was visiting his many friends in Jackson this week. He is now employed by the California Street Cable Co. railroad in San Francisco. He came up to accompany his adopted child to the city. She has been staying with friends in Amador City for the past month. They left for home this week.

Miss Mary Macdonald of Oakland is visiting Mrs C. Ginocchio of this city.

John Mitchell returned Friday of last week, after a couple of months' absence on a visit to his native land, Cornwall, England.

DAVIS FOR SHERIFF

Republican Candidate Induced to Leave Anvil for Office

By announcement in another column, it will be seen that John S. Davis of Amador has consented to run for the republican nomination for sheriff. He has done thisat the earnest solicitation of republicans throughout the county. He was considered the strongest man in the party for this office, but was not anxious to enter into politics, as far as his personal feelings are concerned. Having consented to be a candidate, he will throw himself into the fight with a vim, and do his utmost to win. With this candidacy, the republican ticket is rounded out with the strongest material that has been submitted to the voters for many years. Davis is exceptionally well qualified for the duties of sheriff. By trade he is a blacksmith, carrying on business at Amador City. He is in the prime of life, being thirty-eight years of age. He was born and raised in the vicinity of Plymouth. His father, J. J. Davis of Shenandoah valley, was one of the organizers of the republican party in Amador county fifty-four years ago. As soon as Davis had given his consent to become a candidate, V. S. Garbarini, who had signified his intention to go on the ticket in case of no other candidate appearing, immediately withdrew, and signified his intention of doing his utmost for the election of J. S. Davis.

Articles of Incorporation

Articles of incorporation of the Penn Mining Company have been filed with the county clerk. This company is incorporated under the laws of Wyoming, with its principal place of business at Cheyenne, Wyoming. The object of the company is to do a general mining and ore reduction business, and prospect and exploit mines in the counties of Amador and Calaveras; to treat ores of copper, gold, silver, etc. The capital stock is $250,000 divided into 250,000 shares of $1 each. The three directors named for the first year are Charles Loughridge, Mel H. Loughbridge and William McIlvane.

CURRY HAS FINE SHOW

People's Choice Bound to Win, Point Out Indications

It is proverbial that politicianns of the professional sort are the last observers to awake to a full realization of the tren of public opinion in a political campaign. They are the last to admit that the great body of voters have done some thinking of their own and that either a man or a measure or both have won the sympathies of the public and with them a victory. This is the present condition in the race for the republican nomination for governor. The politicians have discovered at this late day, with the primary election only a few weeks away, that Curry has a lead which cannot possibly be overcome. He will receive the republican nomination by an overwhelming vote. It is not uulikely that the prediction of his friends, made months ago, will be fulfilled and that he will receive a majority over all the other candidates.

The reasons for this are not far to seek. In this campaign a man and a measure have won. Curry's state wide popularity, his tried fitness for the office he seeks, his long critical experience in the highest affairs of state, his intimate knowledge of conditions and needs throughout California and his sympathetic concern for an efficient, economical administration of the state government have made him the candidate of the rank and file of the republican party. During his long public career he has been identified with the policies and principles of republicanism. His loyalty to republican standards of political morality has been absolute and in this campaign, where the very existence of the republican party in California is at stake, Curry is the logical and only candidate of the party. If reforms are to be made in the policies of the republican party they should be guided by the friendly care of a republican. If republicans policies are to bear their best fruit they must be nurtured by a republican and not by one who boastingly outlaws himself from republican authority.

In this emergency the republicans of California have turned en masse to Curry. It is conceded on every hand that Alden Anderson cannot win the republican nomination. Every influence that could be brought to bear in his behalf has been exercised to no purpose. In central California and in the bay counties he is hopelessly out of the running. Even his managers confess this fact. In the south he is practically unknown. Political and financial pressure have been used for him in vain. Coercion has been tried but it has failed. While Anderson cannot win himself he nevertheless possesses a negative power in the great struggle. If he is kept in the race he will work a certain injury to Curry by deceiving some republicans who are loyal to their party.

This has given the backers of Johnson some hope and they are doing their utmost to create an impression that Anderson is a factor in the fight. This deception has imposed upon very few republicans but it is San Francisco. The managers of Alden Anderson 's campaign are resorting to measures which have aroused the deepest resentment throughout California. The manipulators, who are handling the canvass of the bank superintendent, have trespassed too far upon public patience and protest against unwarranted coercion in his behalf is widespread. It is significant that the railroad politicians are directing their attack upon the friends of Curry and thus far they failed lamentably in their purpose either to frighten or threaten the men who have devoted themselves to Curry's cause.

It was the first boast of the Anderson campaigners that as soon as they gave the word desertions from the Curry camp would follow quickly. The word was given not once but many times but the Curry men were steadfast. The railroad messengers could not understand this. The machine lash had lost its sting. Something more imperative than requests was necessary and the Anderson politicians were not slow to adopt more drastic measures.

In some cases they caused the dismissal of state and municipal employees who refused to take Anderson

A TERRIBLE MISFORTUNE

Mule Viciously Bites Dan Bona of Drytown

A shocking affair happened near Drytown last Friday, resulting in the severe crippling of Dan Bona, the proprietor of the butcher shop at Drytown. It seems that Bona and his son repaired to the slaughter house, which is on the Garibaldi ranch a short distance from town. While employed at the slaughter house the threshing outfit of John Crambert, which had been working on the ranch, got through and a wagon to which a pair of mules were attached, driven by an Itailan was leaving the ground. In passing through the gate by the roadside, the wagon became cramped on account of a sharp turn, and was overturned. One of the mules was thrown to the ground, and became mixed up in the lines. Bona and his son saw the accident from the slaughterhouse, and at once repaired to the scene to render assistance. Dan Bona set to work to free the struggling mule from the line entanglements, so as to enable it to get on its feet.

While so engaged the mule grabbed Bona's right leg with his teeth in a vicious manner, and continued holding on, moving this jaws as though chewing hay. Bona was powerless to extricate himself. The driver and others used every method to make the brute let go, but in vain. Meantime the cries of Bona to be liberated were heartrending, and it was suggested as a last resort to kill the mule. Finally, however, a stout stick was secured, and this was thrust into the mules mouth above the point where his jaws were working on the human flesh, and a prieing movement on the stick was effectual in forcing the jaws apart, and causing the animal's grip on Bona's leg to relax.

It was seen at once that Bona had sustained serious injury. The flesh of the back part of the leg, midway between the heel and knee, was torn and lacerated badly, and six deep wounds showed where the teeth of the mule were driven far into the flesh.

Bona was conveyed to his home as soon as possible, and Dr. Lnych of Amador was summoned. The doctor dressed the wounds, and the patient is doing as well as could be expected. He has been confined to his bed since the occurrence, and it will be several weeks, under the most favorable conditions, before he will be able to attend to his business.

The mule after being extricated was as tractable as usual. It is not a vicious animal, and little trouble had been experienced with it before.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mary E. Buffington Passed to Her Final Rest on Wednesday

Mrs Mary E. Buffington passed away at her home on Summit street on Wednesday morning last, at eleven o'clock. She was smitten with paralysis about two weeks ago, and had been in feeble health long previous to that time, incident to advancing years. For four or five days prior to her death, she was unconscious, unable to recognize anyone about her, and gradually fell into the last long sleep.

Deceased was 72 years of age last birthday. She was one of the pioneer women of Amador county. She was married in early days to Ellis Evans, and for many years was proprietress of the National hotel in Jackson. Just prior to her husband's death, they disposed of the hotel property. In 1901, she was married to P. Buffington, for several years editor of the Amador Ledger, and immediately thereafter moved to Alameda county, but returned to Amador county in less than two years, her husband having in the most heartless manner deserted her, after squandering a snug little fortune in her own right. This preyed upon her, and undoubtedly helped to shorten her days. She was kind hearted and of an uncomplaining spirit, and bore her troubles with christian fortitude. She leaves two brothers, Charles Meek and James Meek, both of Jackson, and one sister, Mrs Barrett, of Lincoln, who came up at the outset of her last illness, and nursed her to the end. The

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Woman Killed in Run Away and Child Badly Hurt

A lamentable and fatal accident happened Tuesday afternoon, on the main road between Amador City and Drytown. Mrs M. Gardner was returning homeward from a visit to friends at Martell, in a one horse buggy, accompanied by her only child, a boy about seven or eight years old. It was about half-past four o'clock when they reached the top of the grade beyond Amador City, and started down the steep grade toward Rancheria creek—the most dangerous part of the journey, the road being narrow in places and the grade heavy. Exactly how the accident occurred is not known. Z. P. Smith, president of the Berkeley Business College, and A. B. Harrison, a real estate man of Oakland, were in a buggy a short distance behind Mrs Gardner, and witnessed the accident. It is supposed that the breeching-strap or some other part of the harness broke. At any rate, in commencing to descend the hill, the horse became unmanageable, and started at a furious pace down the grade. After going some distance the buggy probable collided with the bank, or some obstruction in the roadway, and the sudden jolt at such high speed threw both occupants out, pithing forward with great violence. Mr Smith and Mr Harrison hastened to the point, and with others rendered what assistance was possible. Mrs Gardner must have struck on her face, as her features were shockingly disfigured. She was breathing when picked up, although unconscious. A litter was quickly secured, but she breathed her last before she was conveyed from the sceneof the fatality It is thought that her neck was broken by the force of the concussion.

The boy was severely injured also, and was unconscious when picked up. His skull was fractured in two places. Dr. Lynch was summoned, and after an examination concluded that the child's injuries are not necessarily fatal. At last accounts he was living, and strong hopes are held out that he will recover.

Reports have been circulated that the horse was frightened by an auto, also that a traveler in the opposite direction started the runaway. All such stories are without foundation, so the only eye witnesses of the tragedy assert.

Mrs Gardner was 32 years of age. Her maiden name was Kuchenbecker, her parents formerly occupying a ranch above Amador. Her husband, M. Gardner, is renting the Ford ranch, near Quartz mountain, and to this point she was proceeding when the runaway took place. Mr Gardner is employed at the Original Amador mine in Amador City. Besides her husband and child, Mrs Gardner leaves a mother, who was at Lake Tahoe when the sad tragedy was enacted, also a brother and other relatives to mourn her untimely and tragic end.

BROWN'S IN TOWN

Will Appear in Love's Hall To-morrow Evening

To-morrow night, Saturday July 19, 1910, Jackson will be treated to one of the best local talent comedy shows ever given in the town. R. S. Bierce, the local shoe dealer, has been at the head of the new venture and personally managed the details of the show, in order to insure a good night of amusement for all those who attend.

The play is a three act comedy, entitled "Brown's in Town." Those who are to take part in the comedy are all amateur actors and actresses. The play is given under the auspices of Ursula parlor, N. D. G. W., assisted by L'Allegro tennis club. The cast of characters are as follows:

Dick Preston, the son R, S. Bierce; Able Preston, the father, H. Mason; Arthur Howard, a dentist, Wm. Penry Jr., Worth Carew, a gent of leisure, T. A. Hedgepeth; Pollock, the gardener, Frank Valvo; Susane Dacre, who knows a thing or two, Ethyl Green; Lettie, Dick's wife, Hazel Green; Freda Von Hollenbick, a German heiress, Mrs R. S. Bierce; Mary Ellen Primrose Johnson, the lady cook, Mrs Jas. J. Wright. A social dance will be given after the show.

MINE NEWS ALONG LODE

Interesting Accounts of Mines Located In Amador Co.

Bunker Hill

The semi-annual statement of operations for the six months ending Jue 30, shows the mill was operated 172 days and 3 hours, crushing 17,793 tons of ore. The value of the bullion output and sulphurets sold amounted to $144.122.86. This shows an average yield of a fraction over $8 per ton. This is a very high average for mother lode mining in Amador county. The operating expenses for this period for labor, power and supplies etc., aggregated $80,000. The surplus in the treasury July 1st was $75,966.22. The Bunker Hill, from this it would seem, easily holds its place as the best bullion producer in the county, considering its stamping capacity.

New Tailing Plant

H. E. Stowers has secured an interest with Mr Allen in the tailing plant on Jackson creek. half a mile below the junction of the three forks. The purpose of this plant is to catch the free gold that has been set free by oxidization extending over a number of years. The venture is based on an entirely new plan, which if successful will open a wide field of activity in other places.

BASE BALL SUNDAY

Two Games That Will Interest Local Fans to be Played

The Jackson's baseball team goes to Angels camp, Calaveras county on Sunday next for a game, and it is hoped they will bring the bacon back home.

Huber, who has been playing shortstop for the Jackson nine, has been elected captain, and is doing all in his power to bring the team up to its standard condition.

Steel, a former pitcher for Sutter Creek has signed with the club and plays his first game with the team the coming Sunday. He will play in the outfield according to present indications. As a pitcher he throws several good balls and with the support such as Jackson's team could give him, he would be an ugly opponent.

Kennedy vs Sutter at Zeila Park

Sutter Creek took the Kennedy baseball team into camp last Sunday in a hotly contested game. The Kennedys took the lead in the first frame and held it until the seventh inning, when a fumbled fly and a wild throw gave Sutter Creek four runs.

The game was well played and interesting throughout, the big crowd of spectators being on their feet and rooting their team constantly. The final score was 12 to 9. Next Sunday these teams will meet again on the Zeila park grounds in Jackson and the Kennedys are more than confident of retrieving their lost laurels.

Jackson Gets a Fine Pool Parlor

A new pool and billiardroom will open tonight in the store room adjoining Weller's hardware store, and be conducted under the management of Allison and Jenkins, who come here from Napa, California, where they are at present running a similar business.

Mr Allison has been in town for the past week setting up tables, hanging cue racks etc., and to-day finished the job and invited the public into his new place of business, by issuing circulars, announcing that a good smoke will be presented to all attending his grand opening.

FRIDAY JULY 15, 1910

A GOOD TICKET.

With the announced candidacy of John S. Davis for sheriff, the make up of the republican ticket is practically complete. And it is a good ticket, worthy of the support of every republican voter in the county. There is not a weak or vulnerable place in it. Every candidate is thoroughly qualified by character, disposition and education, for the office to which he aspires. All that is needed for success on the republican side in this county is that the candidate shall be as strong as his party. By this we do not mean that any candidate can be expected, or is likely to poll every republican vote. Every man is supposed to have personal friends outside of his own party ranks, and few men are without active opponents inside of their own party lines. Personal friendship and personal enmity are far stronger factors in deciding local elections than party fealty. All that republican aspirants for county office have to do in order to win is to offset the losses from their own party by gains from the democratic side. With the democrats it is different. They must be elected by outside votes. They must be much stronger than their party to win. Backed with this advantage as a starter, and with an exceptionally good and capable set of candidates, the outlook on the threshold of the campaign is as bright as could be hoped for. There is no internal dissension on the republican side worth mentioning, and none likely to crop up to interfere with the prospects. On the other hand the local democracy is badly broken up, with chances favoring that the strife will increase in bitterness as the campaign waxes older.

Beyond mere party considerations, there is a wide-spread feeling of dissatisfaction at county management of late years. Autocratic methods have been followed--the inevitable outcome of long-continued domination by one party. The servant has arrogated the role of master and dictator. The burdens of the taxpayers have increased to an extent that is positively oppressive, and without adequate reason therefor. Who will dispute the proposition that the county government if conducted with the same regard for economy as ordinary private business is transacted, might be carried on at a material reduction of cost, and without any impairment of efficiency. At least some of this extravagance is easily traceable to partyism, and the "don't care" spirit that has become rampant in connection therewith. These things appeal to the self-interest of every taxpayer for a change. We are very much mistaken if these matters are not accorded due weight by many of our citizens at the forthcoming election.

The suppression of the Jefferies-Johnson fight pictures on the ground the exhibition would tend to incite riots and race prejudice may be sound policy, especially throughout the Southern States where the colored population is strong. But the plea of shutting them out on purely moral and legal grounds is difficult to fathom. It is not probable that this fuss over the motion pictures would have been raised had the white instead of the negro gladiator proved the victor at Reno. Of all the hollow reasons given for tabooing the pictures that given by San Francisco's mayor is entitled to the palm for downright silliness. He contends that inasmuch as the prize fight itself was a crime under California law, the reproduction of the fight by the motion pictures must be equally under the ban of the law. If such argument is to pass muster, it must logically follow that stage personification of crime—the villain of the play—must also go. It is doubtful if even an account of a crime in the newspapers could be tolerated under this legal interpretation. The motion pictures of crimes and fights are no doubt demoralizing and should be subjected to a strict public censorship, but there is nothing to be gained in going to the absurd extreme of branding the shadow as on a par with the substance in its criminal aspect.

The "village blacksmith" is bound to cut quite a figure in local politics from now on. Between two forges, fires and anvils, someone ought to get pretty well flattened out in this campaign.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY

Reported weekly for the Ledger.

A Simple Smoke-Consumer—Earth Cooling by Sunspots—Nettle Cloth—Stability for the Aeroplane—Unknown Wealth in Tropical Forests—Butterfly Gardens—Work of Termites and Ants—Iron-Eating Bacteria—A Set-In Propeller.

One of the successful devices for diminishing London's smoke seems to be the "Calorizer" of Sherrard Cowper Coles, the British metallurgist. This simple apparatus is described as formed of a number of quadrants of special material having very high power of absorbing and transmitting heat, and when these are arranged as a combustion chamber behind the fire, the effect is to maintain a mean temperature above that needed to burn all gases and smoke. No steam jets, mechanical appliances or special grates are required. Automatic draught regulation may be used, and this in some cases has contributed toward the 8 to 12 per cent of economy gained from the same fuel. In the tests made, a charge in the furnace of three times the usual amount of refuse slack coal failed to show the slightest trace of smoke at the chimney top. Not only is it affirmed that no carbon or gases can escape complete combustion, but it is claimed that the even temperature maintained greatly lessens the varying strain on the plates of the boiler heated by the furnace.

Great sunspots seem to cool the earth 20 times as much as can be accounted for by the decrease in radiation from the dark spots themselves, and Dr. W. J. Humphreys, of the United States Weather Bureau, points out that this may be explained by a change in the power of the earth's atmosphere to absorb and retain heat. This power is variously influenced by sunspots. The dark spots must diminish the ultra violet radiation reaching the earth, and this would lessen the ozone in the upper air, but, on the other hand, sunspots increase auroras, and these tend to produce ozone.

Fabric from nettles is not a new product, but the snow-white mass of fiber of a Vienna firm indicates that the gums and waste can now be separated on a commercial scale. Between cotton and linen in merits, the fiber should be cheaper than either as nettles can be readily grown in vast quantities on many places.

Automatic stability of the aeroplane—a troublesome and important problem—is claimed to have been achieved by Lieut. J. W. Dunne, a British aeronaut. His machine is an odd looking biplane, and is especially remarkable in being without a tail and having no steering surfaces, or rudders except two small steering flaps hinged to the rear extremities of the upper surface for altering the course during flight. The carrying planes, crescent-shaped in plan, are curved sharply backward. They have a double curvature, and it is claimed that this gives the automatic stability. The late test at Sheppy seems to have been very satisfactory. After a short run the machine left the ground, and at a height of about 60 feet it made a flight of two miles, without the touching of a lever or a wheel by the aviator, and maintaining absolute equilibrium. With a carrying surface of 560 square feet, the entire machine, including its 50 horse-power Green engine, weighs 1700 pounds.

Forestry in the Philippine Islands has been given much attention since the American occupation, and most of the forests have been thoroughly classified, estimated and mapped. The virgin forest area is stated by H. N. Whitford, chief of the Investigation Division of the Forestry Bureau, to comprise 25,000,000 acres with 200 billion board feet of timber. The high-priced cabinet woods, though important and valuable, do not hold the leading place usually assigned them, and the great wealth is in the cheaper structural timbers, such as can be used in place of the Oregon pine, Baltic fir, etc., of Europe and America. Dr. Whitford favors a plan for exploring other tropical forests, believing that they will reveal a timber wealth beyond all dreams so far entertained.

Butterfly farming, for supplying entomologists with specimens, is a curious industry said to have developed in France and elsewhere in Europe. One establishment is located on the southeast of London. This covers an acre or more, and has large green houses to give butterflies a home among plants and flowers, with cages of all sizes up to 10 feet square. The 40,000 or 50,000 caterpillars of early spring are changed in summer to butterflies of every conceivable color. Assistants collect rarities in many places, and specimens sell at one cent to $5.00 or $1.00 or more each.

Ants are still a pet study of naturalists, and interesting new observations have been made. The nests of the termites, or white ants, of Madagascar are found by H. Jumelle and H. Perier to be mushroon gardens from 3 to 3½ feet nigh, each having about 20 chambers. These are lined with wood granules, often brought a long distance, and on the wood thrives a delicate mushroom of the species xylaire, forming cells and spores, which feed the young termite larval and even the adults. When a nest is abandoned, the mushrooms—no longer kept back—develop long filaments. A common ant of Dalmatia, Messor barbarus, obtains food from seeds and has been noticed by F. W. Neger, of the Forestry school at Tharandt, near Dresden to have the singular custom of backing it. Leguminous and other seeds are permitted to germinate just enough to burst their outer coats, and are then dried by the ants, which afterward chew them into dough. Little biscuits of this dough are baked in the sun, then stored. The Oecophylla smaragdina, a common tropical ant, is already reputed to use its silk-secreting larvae as needle and thread for binding leaves into nests and E. Bugnion has been able to verify its tailoring feats. Nesting in trees, these ants sometimes have difficulty in bringing the edges of leaves together. In such cases, several ants—sometimes 5 or 6—form a living chain to bridge the gap, and strive to bring the two leaves together. Many chains may work together for hours in the effort to join two leaves.

Now we are told that our iron pipes are being eaten up by bacteria! The rapid corrosion of unprotected pipes in the soil has been investigated by R. H. Gaines, and he finds it due in part to bacteria, certain species being particularly active. An acid product excreted directly attacks the iron, forming pits. There is also indirect action, due to acidity imparted to the soil, and perhaps to sulphur produced by reaction on sulphates of the soil. Remedies are good drainage, and slaked lime around the pipes.

The new ship's propeller of F. F. Norden, a Swede, runs in a compartment of the vessel's stern, and is thus protected from floating objects and made accessible for repairs without docking. Increased speed and lessened vibration are also claimed.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

Davis to Run for Sheriff; A Man Worthy of All True Republican's Support

Saturday evening several of the Republican central committeemen. Ed. Kay of Jackson, Chas. Richards of Sutter Creek, C. H. McKenney of Sutter Creek and Dr. Gall of Jackson met in the office of Dr. Gall, who is chairman of the central committee to discuss the vacancy on the republican ticket for the office of sheriff. The announcement of V. S. Garbarini, as aspirant for the office, not having been made known to many by reason of the fact that his card did not appear in the republican paper, and was inserted just the night previous in the Dispatch.

J. S. Davis, a resident of Amador was requested to meet the committeemen and consider the matter of accepting the office. Mr Davis appeared before the members and upon hearing that Garbarini had already announced himself as a candidate, refused to discuss the question, declaring that he would support the ticket and under no circumstances create the least of friction It was reported that Mr Garbarini had only issued his name for the good of the party, knowing that a republican candidate was almost certain of election, and dreading to see the office go begging for a man, and that he asserted, that should any one else come forward who would be willing to fight for his party, he would withdraw his name, providing he thought the new candidate would make a creditable showing.

Garbarini was sent for and asked as to whether he really desired the office or if he only used his name tou fill the ticket, whereupon he declared he thouhgt the republicans were entirely too slow in coming forward as candidates, and that his only desire as a republican was to see the office represented by a formidable candidate. He was made acquainted with the wishes of several of the committeemen who had been trying to influence Davis to accept the candidacy, not knowing of course at the time that Garbarini was considering the announcement of his own name, and when Garbarini learned that Davis would accept the nomination, providing he was unopposed by any one else in the party, Garbarini immediately declared himself out of the race, and heartily promised Davis all the support he could give him.

Davis was therefore furnished with the necessary blanks and declared he would do everything honorable that would suggest itself to him in order to carry the ticket he represented to victory at the coming election.

Stork Brings New Voter to Jackson

Shortly after sunrise last Tuesday morning the old Stork was seen laboring up Peak's hill, and John Green a resident on the summit of the hill returned home from his place of employment at the Argonaut mine, just in time to see a great big boy dropped at his door. Green hustled the new addition indoors and declared in his glee, "Gee, it don't weigh much under 20 pounds," and in the next breath, "and its a boy." All are reported to be doing nicely,

DONT HIDE YOUR MONEY

The man who hides his money because he assumes to be afraid of banks forgets that it was the bank that perhaps made the prosperity possible which gave him his money making opportunities. Without the bank there would be no large commercial or business enterprises possible, salaries snd wages would be low, and money making impossible. It is the bank in the exercise of its function in gathering together the funds of a community and putting them into active use that has brought prosperity.

To hide money is to hinder and hurt prosperity by restricting the circulation of money. Bring your money to the bank.

Deafness Can not be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing. and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition. hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

FREE FIGHT BY MINERS

City Treasury Is Enriched $35 By Men Who Are Arrested

A miner named Johnson in trying to uphold his namesake's reputation, by repeating the Reno mess on a companion named Fuller, met his waterloo last Wednesday evening at the hands of district attorney Vicini, who happened by as the two were making things interesting for the large crowd of spectators attracted to the scene of battle by the noisy fighters.

The fight started in Belluomini's saloon on Main street, and while it was in progress, a looker on named Micholas Miloslavich attempted to save Fuller from further injury, when Walter Scott, an Argonaut miner happened into the saloon, and it is claimed, without making any inquiries started right in to clean up the Austrian by giving him a severe smashing on the cheek, knocking out a tooth and cutting the cheek.

The other two fighters by this time were hurried through the doors into the street and were arrested and taken to jail. Later they were taken before Justice Thompson, where they entered a plea of guilty and paid their imposed fines of $10 each.

Miloslavich had his wound, received by Scott's punch, given necessary attention, and was returning to the National hotel, where he is boarding, when he again encountered Scott. A few ugly words were exchanged and the Austrian attempted to pay back his injury, when sheriff Gregory by chance happened to be near at hand and arrested him. Scott was allowed to go unmolested. The Austrian, who by the way is not a voter, received as his share for peacemaker's end of it, the snug fine of $15.

She has been afflicted for two or three weeks, and for the last week has been confined to bed. The affliction has assumed the form of paralysis, although it is not what is usually known as a stroke of paralysis, but is a form of spinal complaint which is very rare. The local doctors have consulted over the case which is a difficult and baffling one. It is the intention to take the child shortly to the city for change of air and treatment.

Post Office Dropped.

Oleta post office has been discontinued by the postal department. The reason for this action is not on account of the lack of business to warrant it continuance, nor of the expense entailed in the mail service at that point. The authorities have had trouble on account of lax method and inattention to post office regulations.

There is no doubt it will be re established upon application and the selection of a suitable person to attend to the duties of the office. The mail from Plymouth to Omo and Aukum runs by way of Oleta, so there is little difficulty in getting mail matter to the Oleta people.

The postoffice at Kirkwoods in Alpine couty has also been discontinued. This move seems to be for the sake of economy. It entails a great hardship upon the stockmen and tourists in that region. They have now to send to Woopfords for mail, 20 miles from Kirkwoods, and make the trip weekly.

MOON WAS UNDER A CLOUD.

An Incident of the Theater In the Earlier Days.

Early in the season of 1856-7, said J. M. Barron, the veteran actor, we were in Petersburg, Va., at old Phoenix hall. The business was such that nightly long rows of nile green seats could be seen from the stage.

In those good old times the utility people did not get more than $200 a week. The leading people received due bills on the next good house. We had in the utility contingent a Ute named Moon, and a bright Moon he was, but he was so lazy his shadow would not follow him. He was often late. The star was Charles Couldock, and those old timers who can yet sit up on an even keel may remember that C. C. could do cuss poetry in four colors when riled, even if it were not in his contract.

We were rehearsing "The Willow Copse," and Moon's cue came, but no Moon shone up. The call boy started with a shout, "Mr. Moon!"

The prompter called, "Mr. Moon!"

Three Utes away up stage joined in, "Mr. Moon, this is you; stage is waiting."

No Moon.

Couldock began to pace from tormenter doors to L. 4 E. No Moon.

Finally Couldock bawled out: "Where is that Moon—that utility idiot? Always late and doesn't know his cues when he hears them."

No Moon yet. It appeared that Mistress Moon had presented the old man with a fine daughter—a new Moon. The father Moon went out to celebrate with the boys and later on was wheelbarrowed home a full Moon.—New York Telegraph.

PLAYING THE PIANO.

Rubinstein's Way as a Teacher With His Pupils.

"Once I played a Liszt rhapsody pretty badly. After a few moments he said, 'The way you played this piece would be all right for auntie or mamma.' Then, rising and coming toward me, he would say, 'Now let us see how we play such things.' Then I would begin all over again, but hardly had I played a few measures when he would interrupt and say:

"'Did you start? I thought I hadn't heard right.'

"'Yes, master, I certainly did.' I would reply.

"'Oh,' he would say vaguely, 'I did not notice.'

"'How do you mean?' I would ask.

"'I mean this,' he would answer. 'Before your fingers touch the keys you must begin the piece mentally—that is, you must have settled in your mind the tempo, the manner of touch and, above all, the attack of the first notes before your actual playing begins.'

"On another occasion I asked him for the fingering of a rather complex passage.

"'Play it with your nose,' he replied, 'but make it sound well.'

"Once Rubinstein said:

"'Do you know why piano playing is so difficult? Because it is prone to be either affected or else afflicted with mannerisms, and when these two pitfalls are luckily avoided then it is liable to be—dry! The truth lies between those three mischiefs.'"—"Hofmann's Piano Player."

Weak Throat—Weak Lungs

Cold after cold; cough after cough! Troubled with this taking-cold habit? Better break it up. We have great confidence in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this work. No medicine like it for weak throats and weak lungs. Ask your doctor for his opinion. He knows all about it. His approval is valuable. Follow his advice at all times. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Always keep a good laxative in the house. Take a dose when your cold first comes on. What is the best laxative for this? Ayer's Pills. Ask your doctor his opinion. Let him decide.

orders to abandon the support of Curry. The men who lost their position only fought the harder in the cause of their favorite. Their followers in office were more closely united to destroy an influence which went so far as to deprive men of their living. The experiment was a costly one for Anderson. Then the word came from the Palace hotel headquarters of the bank superintendent that business men, of whom 3000 are registered in Curry's cause in San Francisco alone were to be harassed. Indignation at this order was immediate. Merchants who were approached refused to be brow beaten and the Anderson people took another tack.

The astounding announcement was made that unless the base ball players showed less enthusiasm for Currry and some interest in the candidacy of Anderson a law will be passsed at the next session of the legislature prohibiting baseball on Sunday. This attack on one of the most popular and healthy recreations of the public has been resented from one end of California to the other. Rightly it is considered a dangerous excursion of the Anderson politicians into the purely domestic affairs of the people.

The threat against the base ball players indicates very clearly the desperate straits in which the Anderson people find themselves. They have been unable even to galvanize the bank superintendent's fight into a semblance of life and now comes the authoritative news that his resignation as bank superintendent, which was so widely heralded, has a string to it. Governor Gillett has declared that he will not accept the resignation as Anderson is to ovaluable a manto loose in his present official capacity. Gillett will hold up his acceptance until after the primary if he does take Anderson at his word it will simply mean a reappointment after August 16. Anderson realizes that his chances of nomination are too remote to be discussed.

News of Interest from Near-by Counties

The left arm, from just above the elbow, of John Michilvich, the Austrian who was blown to pieces near Altaville last Saturday week, was found by Coroner Prince Saturday last in the mill of the Smythe mine, about 75 feet from the place where the explosion occurred.—Angels Record.

A correspondent of the Citizen writing from Mokelmne Hill says that recently when they tried to take out the hose cart to extinguish a fire, the axles were bestuck with dry axle grease that the wheels would not turn, requiring the strength of four men to do what two should have easily done. This was due to the fact that six or seven years ago some one tried to "steal" the hose cart by buying it in for delinquent taxes, and when the people redeemed their property they locked up the house and the doors had never since been opened. It is no wonder that the hose cart got no grease. To much precaution is sometimes worse than not enough.

Thomas Cleary, the electrician departed Tuesday for Electra, where he assumes a good position. Tom is a very agreeable and accommodating young man, who understands his business and never fails in his line of duty, and while we all regret his going, we also wish him every success and happiness in the future. Zeph La Riviere conveyed Mr Cleary to Electra.

On Saturday last William Inch was re-elected principal of the Tuolumne county high school. On Thursday evening the Board of Education received and accepted his resignation. The higher salary offered Mr Inch in Lodi undoubtedly controlled him in the matter.—Sonora Democrat.

One of the most destructive fires that has taken place in this locality in a long time broke out on the premises of the Angels Iron Works about 9:30 o'clock last Saturday evening and in a very short time, the building wherein were stored the foundry's patterns, was reduced to ashes. The fire caught on the roof of the building, but from just what source it originated is not known. The supposition is, however, that it started from a spark from the foundry cupola, which smouldered for a long time until the evening breeze fanned it into a blaze. The Altaville hose company responded quickly and a hose cart was speedily hauled up from this town, but as the building and its contents were as dry as tinder and flamed like matches all efforts to subdue the fire were of no avail. The only thing left to be done was to prevent the flames from spreading to the surrounding buildings and this was effectually done. The destroyed building contained the accumulation of patterns for probably twenty years past, and the loss to the foundry can hardly be estimated in dollars and cents as many of them cannot be replaced or duplicated. The loss will probably sum close on to $100,000.—Angels Record.

While coming down from Tiger Creek the other day, a bear ran across the road in front of Swift's big team frightening the mules and they started on a runaway, tipping the wagon over and caught the driver, Jim Hill, under the load, nearly killing him.—Echo.

Instruction in Honesty.

A few years ago there was a shiftless colored boy named Ransom Blake, who, after being caught in a number of petty delinquencies, was at last sentenced to a short term in the penitentiary, where he was sent to learn a trade. On the day of his return home he met a friendly white acquaintance who asked:

"Well what did they put you at in the prison, Ranse?"

"Dey started in to make an honest boy out'n me, sah."

"That's good, Ranse, and I hope they succeeded."

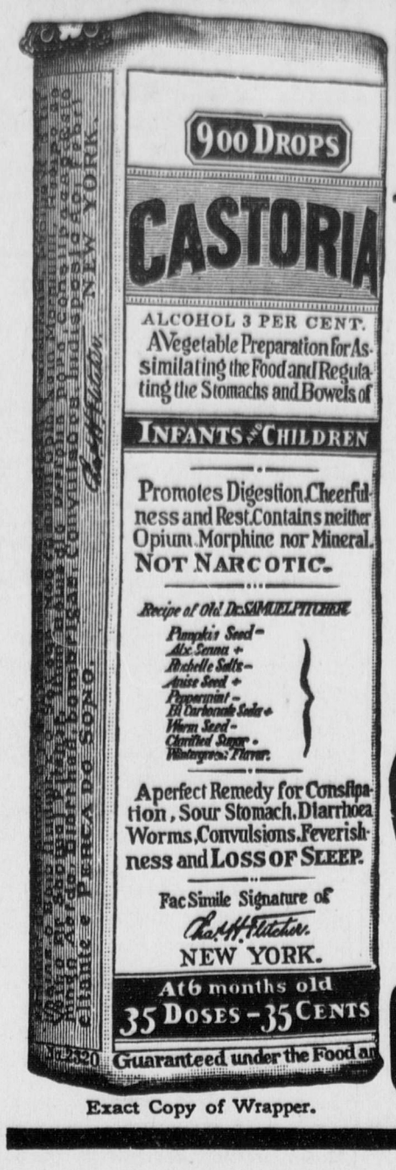

"They did, sah."

"And how did they teach you to be honest?"

"Dey den put me in a shoe shop, sah, nailin' pasteboard onter shoes fo' leather soles, sah."

Remembers His Friend

Deputy clerk, J. A. Smith received by mail on Tueday, the day after the prize fight, a neatly done up package. On opening it he found it to contain a saw. With it was a note asking him, "file it and send the bill to Mistah Johnsing," the dark cloud who knocked out the son of a preacher at Reno on the 4th. Alex favored Jeffries in the fight and Bill O'Connell bet on Johnson. It is suspected that Bill knows a whole lot about the saw. —Citizen.

Capt. Nevills to be Sued for Taxes.

A dispatch to the San Francisco Chronicle, dated Sacramento, June 27, says: State Controller, A. B. Nye gave instructions to-day to attorney-general U. S. Webb to bring suit at once against Rawhide and App Gold Mining companies in Tuolumne county to recover $12,500 in taxes which have been delinquent for the past several years. The mines are among the valuable properties controlled by Captain W. A. Nevills, one of the most prominent mining men in the state.

"The usual procedure is to have the county tax collector sell the property to the state for delinquent taxes, but controller Nye believes that by suing he will save considerable trouble and expense."—Tuolunme Independent.

Many a lame, weak, and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands upon thousands of people are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

W. N Belveal, E. Washington St., Stockton, Cal., says:" The value of Doan's Kidney Pills was thoroughly proven to me about three years ago. I was troubled by a dull, heavy ache in my back and at night it bothered me the most. I could not lie in one position long and I was very nervous. My kidneys were disordered and I felt all run down. Doan's Kidney Pills soon disposed of every symptom of my trouble and toned up my entire system. My cure has been permanent."

Boy Falls From Window; May Die.

Little seven-year-old "Butsey" Thompson, who lives with his parents at 45 Franklin street, fell from a second-story window of his home yesterday and is now at St. Thomas Hospital suffering from a fractured skull. The accident was witnessed by the child's mother, who is ill. The little fellow may die as a result of his injuries.

He had been playing on a lounge near the open window and his mother had warned him to be careful. As she was ill, she was unable forcibly to remove him from the place of danger. He leaned out of the window, lost his balance and fell to the sidewalk below. The child was removed to the Central Emergency Hospital and from there to St. Thomas.

Clothing of Snake Skins

The autumn will bring the snake skin dress into fashion. Mr Gererrtt, the originator of this development, has informed a press representative that its advantage are more manifold than would appear at the first glance.

"Marvels can be achieved by the python's skin in the hands of a clever designer," he said, "for this skin never pulls or gives. It is both waterproof and pliable, and it can, by skillful manipulation of its wonderful scale marking, bring into prominence a pretty point or hide a defect.

"By using the python's skin for footwear a foot can be made smaller, or it can be given breadth or tapered to a point.

"Then why should not an entire figure be modeled on these lines—breadth here, a slim line there, attention called to a pretty waist, or angular hips transformed into beautifully rounded ones by the magic aid of the python's skin?"

Stage Line Discontinued

The daily cross country stagle ine from Plymouth to Jackson has been discontinued since the first of the month. On the 2nd instant, U. S. Gregory auctioned the whole stage line outfit of J. Steiner, the owner on the premises at Plymouth. The property was sold piecemeal, no one party buying with the intention apparently of continiung the stage line. This line has been running in one form or another from early days. It was deemed a necessity, and is so now to a great extent. With the discontinuance of the direct mail route between these two points the revenue has been materially reduced and Steiner did not care about running it longer. The line always paid something over expenses, and was doing this to the very last. But after paying a driver, the balance was hardly sufficient to justify a continuance, so he decided to quit and remove to San Francisco with his family. There is a good opening for a stage line between Jackson and Plymouth. With proprietor and driver in one person's hands there ought to be a good living. And there is no doubt a mail route over one half the distance could be established on a proper showing of the conditions. Who will take advantage of this business opening?

Aged Miner Is Called by Death

Andrew Martin, aged 76 years, a native of Sweden, passed to his final rest last Friday at the county hospital, after a lingering illness of several years. Mr Martin was stricken with paralysis while working in the Allison mine near Plymouth about 12 years ago, and shortly afterwards transferred his place of residenec to Jackson. He had been admitted to the county home on a previous occasion but of late had been kept by his aged wife who survives him. A short time ago, the faithful wife finding her charge growing too much for her to take proper care of, she applied and was again admitted to the county home.

Weds at 13 Years.

Louisville.—Frank L. Farris, 13-year-old son of Charles L. Farris, late Illinois state representative of Louisville, eloped with Miss Nell Krutsinger, 19 years old, daughter of Sim Krutsinger, a business man of Louisville, to some place outside of the state and were married last Saturday, returning the following day. The marriage was kept secret until now.

The wedding was a great surprse to their friends. The romance began a year ago when they were going to school. Owing to the laws of Illinois they were forced to go elsewhere to obtain a license.

Farris probably is the youngest benedict in the state. They will reside with their parents in Louisville.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Former Volcano Girl to Wed Wealthy Oil Official

The Examiner of Sunday last contains the following announcement of the engagement of Miss Florence Ives, who for a number of years lived at Volcano. and who spent the years of girlhood in that town. Some 15 years ago she moved to San Francisco, making her home with her mother. Her sister, Mrs H. J. Crocker, of San Francisco inherited a large share of the wealth of the McLaughlin estate. Miss Ives will be remembered by many of the residents of the eastern part of the county:

Mrs Eunice Jane Ives announces the engagement of her daughter, Florence, to O. Scribner.

In the society world, news of the betrothal of Miss Ives to Mr Scribner will furnish material for pleasant tete-a-tetes in many a fashionable resort in this country and abroad, Miss Ives having been a pet of the American colony in Paris for several seasons. She completed her schooling in Paris, and has since lived much abroad. Blest with sunbeamy disposition, she has always been a favorite in society, having entree to all of the different coteries of the social world. She is one of the much sought-after belles at the Greenway assemblies and other dancing clubs.

Miss Ives comes of Southern ancestry, of political and social eminence. She is the youngest daughter of the Ives family, her other sisters being Mrs Henry J. Crocker and Mrs Laughlin McLaine. Her brother, W. S. Ives is well known in Sacramento. Miss Ives has taken precedence in golf tournaments for several seasons, and is one of the official family of the Ingleside Golf Club. She is devoted to outdoor life and is an enthusiastic motorist and also an equestrienne.

It was a mutual love for outdoor sports that first attracted Mr Scribner and Miss Ives, and the courtship was spent tramping over golf links and riding and driving over the country. Mr Scribner is one of the officers of the Associated Oil Company, and has for years been identified with the development of this industry in California. Although still a young man, he has been successful in making an independent fortune, being rated among the millionaires of California. He is a member of the Family and the Bohemian clubs.

No definite time for the wedding has been set, but it will probably be late in the fall, and will be a home wedding at the Ives residence, 2220 Washington street.

Many beautiful engagement gifts have been received, although it was only yesterday that Miss Ives confided her secret to her friends. In the collection of gifts is a superb necklace of sapphires and diamonds, a brooch to match and any number of engagement cups.

Jackson Business Man Abreast the Times

John Strohm, proprietor of the Jackson brewery has put into service a new auto truck, which he recently purchased in San Francisco.

Strohm went to the city last week to bring home his auto, and left Oakland Saturday afternoon accompanied by an experienced chauffeur. The car was driven into Byron Springs, where a mishap detained them for some time.

Sunday while traveling near Martinez, a fierce wind storm struck the Jackson bound auto, and completely ble wthe top off the truck, After the necessary repairs were made the auto again started on its way, reaching Jackson about 8 p. m. on Sunday evening. The car easily carries 2 tons and has already had a severe tryout over the hard hills.

The Traction Engine

The hauling of mining timbers by the traction engine method has been suspended, whether permanently or not we are not prepared to say. The machine made two trips to the mines ar ound Sutter Creek. It has not been able to pull as much as an eight-mule team. It could only manage one truck, which would not amount to more than one good load for a four horse team. It is claimed that the engine is net powerful enough for the work, and that material changes must be made before it can be voted a success. The machine is laid up on Sutter hill.

Better Photographs

When you have your "photos" taken by LOGAN you get better workmanship and more satisfaction than anywhere else. Up-to-date apparatus, the best of skill and many years of experience have given LOGAN a well deserved reputation. He is the premier photographer of Stockton. When you come to town dont' fail to call at the studio—15 S. San Joaquin St. Prices always mode rate—work always best.

Boy Thrown from Horse Badly Injured

Roy Mattley, son of John Mattley, aged about 12 years, met with a serious accident last Saturday, near his home in north Jackson.

The boy was riding a horse, which suddenly became frightened, and in making a plunge, threw the lad into a barb wire fence, badly cutting him about the fae and hands. The boy was hurried to the office of Dr. Gall, and there his injuries were given proper attention.

Popular Hotel to Change Management

By a notice in another column it will be seen that Peter Genolio is desirous of selling the hotel and boarding house business, bar, etc., of the Central hotel in Jackson. Genolio has been running the business for about two years, and has had a good run of trade. The lease of the property has three years yet to run. This is a good opportunity for any one wanting to get into a business of that kind.

Pear Tree Has Record

The largest pear tree so far as known in California is in Placerville. It is the property of Mrs Reynolds, who lives in the southern part of the city, and whose husband planted the tree forty eight years ago. About one foot from the ground, just where the trunk proper begins, this tree measures six feet and nine inches in circumference. Although cut back and pruned in years past, the tree is now forty feet or more in height. The first crop of fruit, which was produced by this tree in 1865, consisted of sixteen pears, and they sold at $1 each. The variety is what is known as "dound" pears, and when fully grown the pears weigh from 2½ to 4 pounds each, according to season and prevailing conditions. This tree was discovered and brought to our attention by J. E. Hassler, county horticultural commissioner, who is inspecting fruit trees in this vicinity at the present time.—Republican.

Home from Pleasant Trip

Mrs C. C. Ginocchio, who has been visiting in the southern part of the state attending the grand parlor of Native Daughters in Santa Barbara, and also visiting in San Francisco, returned home this week.

CURRY MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Various Candidates Are Struggling Hard for Nominations

The relative standing of candidates among the people is pretty clearly shown by the petitions being filed with endorsements of nomination. Although only 1 per cent of the state's total vote at the last presidential election is required, many candidates are getting signatures far beyond the necessary amount. Of the candidates for the republican nomination for governor, Charles F. Curry leads the list, with petitions filed from twenty-six counties, and a total number of 12,171 signatures, San Francisco furnishing 3940, and Los Angeles county 3049. Alden Anderson ranks second, with twenty-two counties polled and a total of 3517 certified signatures. Hiram Johnson, the Lincoln-Roosevelt nominee, has twenty counties canvassed and 5589 votes on his petition, 2356 of whom are from San Francisco. Nat Ellery has so far filed papers from eleven counties, with a total of 1499 names. Philip A. Stanton has hardly made a start, only two petitions having been received at the capitol, one each from San Francisco and Madera counties, with 458 signatures.

Notice to Voters

The last day for registration, to enable voters to participate in the primary election on August 16th, is July 26th. And for the general election in November, on the 28th of September. The issuing of transfers from one precinct to another for the general election ceases on the 13th of October.—Citizen.
